

Managed-Account

Outsourced Information-Systems managed services

QT&C Managed-Account services provide expert Information-Systems project management and outsourcing solutions.

Introduction

Outsourcing has become an increasingly popular method for managing the Information-System, largely because of the flexibility it offers clients compared to in-house management.

QT&C Managed-Account services promote confidence that information processes are in capable hands, providing a cost effective approach to manage risk and maintain organisational compliance.

Other advantages include scalable resource, highly skilled and professional industry expertise and performance linked contracts.

QT&C appreciate that, despite the importance of information assurance and legal compliance, these requirements have to effectively compliment the practical running of the organisation.

Our Managed-Account services offer a common sense approach, presenting truly effective services into a highly budget conscious market.

When choosing to outsource areas of your Information-System operations to a trusted partner like QT&C you eliminate the burden of maintaining compliance allowing you to focus on your primary business operations.

Managed-Account services

QT&C's Managed-Account customers benefit from clearly established objectives including targets and project timeframes.

Customers also benefit from:

Dedicated account management

Single point of contact for all account related enquiries.

A dedicated project team

The project team will possess an in-depth understanding of the industry sector and challenge.

As the Information-System is the core focus of QT&C, we are able to make much higher levels of investment and attract the most experienced staff. This ensures you receive the best for your business without the costs and worry.

Best practise implementation strategies

All projects follow recognised project and change management methodologies to ensure objectives are both achieved and on time.

Regular account review meetings

To maintain positive 2-way communication throughout project delivery

Priority scheduling

Preferential Pricing

An additional 20% discount off QT&C's Standard price list and discount structure

Reduced costs

One of the key advantages to QT&C's Managed-Account service is that it helps to reduce the cost of your Information-Systems operations by eliminating the need to invest in expensive process implementation, management and training.
