Who would benefit?

The ISEB Certificate in Data Protection provides a qualification that demonstrates confidence in those individuals with Data Protection responsibilities.

"The ISEB Certificate in Data Protection is used by the Information Commissioner's Office to train its own staff."

Those experienced in data protection issues, as well as those new to the subject, need to be trained so that their organisations are assured compliance is continually addressed.

Course Overview

The course follows the latest ISEB syllabus, and prepares delegates for the ISEB Certificate in Data Protection examination.

The aim of this qualification is to promote an in-depth understanding of how Data Protection works in practice. The program places the Act in the context of human rights and promotes good practice within organisations, rather than simply focusing on the mechanics of regulation.

On completion of the course delegates should be able to explain the origins and identify the broader context of the Act. In addition to this delegates will have the knowledge to practically apply the Acts principles.

Award holders will gain sufficient knowledge to develop and maintain practical policies and procedures for the management of Data Protection processes, as well as understanding what needs to be achieved to attain organisational compliance.
